

Proposed 2022 WSDCC Platform

A note on process: This year, the initial draft of the Platform aimed to take on an ambitious restructuring to make it clearer for delegates where amendment would be necessary, because of the recent shift to allow direct delegate amendment on the platform. Because of this, readers will notice places that will require additions, and we encourage all Democrats to run for Delegate on March 26th at your Local Legislative District Caucus to propose those needed additions. Please send any questions to PartyAffairs@wa-democrats.org.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The following are the 2020 Executive Summaries and will be amended once delegate feedback on the Platform is incorporated.

Criminal Justice Reform

Washington State Democrats must be aggressive in our drive, to limit and minimize explicit, implicit, and institutional injustices. It is not possible or reasonable to list every form of injustice here, especially as we the writers of this platform likely have blind spots in our identification of injustice, ourselves. Injustice based on race, ethnicity, disability, gender, sexual orientation and gender identity and expression, religion, class, wealth, or country of origin are still having an immediate effect of those who experience injustice. They have also shaped our society and institutions from the earliest settlers. We all struggle daily to learn and act against these injustices. We have made much progress and have addressed many of these injustices. However, they have been so ingrained and accepted that the injustices and bias are not recognized by many. The Washington State Democratic Party in this Party Platform realizes that every platform pillar has been written with this understanding whether or not it is explicitly stated.

Education

“It is the paramount duty of the state to make ample provisions for the education of all children.”

-- The Washington State Constitution

The backbone of our democracy is a free, universal public-school system, designed to develop lifelong learners prepared to think critically and participate in our civic society. The growing demands of globalization, technology, and cross-cultural understanding require a well-funded public education system that offers the challenges and opportunities to develop the full potential of all students. We recognize the direct connection between individual educational attainment and the long-term economic sustainability of our society.

Environment, Climate, & Sustainability

We believe all people have a natural right to clean air, water, soil, and food. We have the responsibility to ensure that future generations are provided with a healthy world capable of sustaining and improving their lives. This can only be achieved through international collaboration to effectively address the global climate crisis threatening the health of the planet. The struggle to protect our planet’s climate health must be mutually dependent and interwoven with the struggles for racial and economic justice.

We support aggressive action now to reduce greenhouse gas pollution in order to immediately slow, and ultimately halt further global climate change, species extinctions, ocean acidification guided by prompt and effective decision making based on peer-reviewed, best available science and economic evidence. We call for major new investments in rail and transportation infrastructure, manufacturing industries, sustainable agriculture, energy conservation buildings, and clean tech innovation to create millions of good-paying union jobs benefitting every community, while ensuring a just transition for workers in fossil fuel industries to ensure ongoing employment.

103 We believe that an efficient, well-planned land use and multimodal transportation system
104 promotes a healthy economy. This requires our transportation systems to rapidly transition away from 105 the use of fossil fuels and the burning of carbon-based fuels.

106 We must preserve family farms, strengthen rural communities, ensure the availability of high-quality
107 food, and maintain the viability of land and water. We must promote agriculture and forest 108 management practices that restore healthy soils that can sequester large quantities of CO2. We 109 must preserve the health of our forests and timber communities. We must preserve rivers, tideland,
110 estuaries, and oceans and strengthen our fishing and aquaculture communities.

111 Government

112 The United States should lead by example and work within the world community in a spirit of peace,
113 cooperation, and generosity to support human welfare, freedom, and democracy. Diplomacy and 114 nonviolent conflict resolution must be the primary organizing principles of our foreign policy. We pledge
115 support of our troops and honor our veterans who act in the service of our country. The core task of the 116 U.S. military is to provide for the common defense. Our military must be adequate to provide for our 117 nation's defense and should never be open to abuses of power by any branch of government. The rule of 118 law is a prerequisite for a democratic civil society. A good government provides for the safety, security,
119 and justice for all, with care, fairness, and respect for everyone. Finally, Government derives its legitimacy
120 from the people, to whom it must be answerable; it serves as their instrument to achieve ends that the 121 people could not achieve individually. Our representative democracy requires full participation by an 122 informed citizenry; a voting process that is fair, transparent, and open to all; and public officials who are 123 accountable to society. An informed citizenry and persistently inquisitive media are essential for 124 democracy to flourish. The free flow of information is fundamental to democracy.

125 Health Care, Human Services & Gun Safety

126 Healthcare is a basic human right. Our government should guarantee accessible, high-quality, free at 127 the point of use healthcare for all by law. Patients must have the right to access and choose between 128 all lawful medical treatment options, without hindrance by institutions exercising religious doctrine and 129 regardless of ability to pay. A strong public health system is essential to the well-being of all residents
130 and the health and economic security of this country. As a caring community, we must provide a safety
131 net of social services that meets the basic needs of people, especially those on the margins of society, so
132 they can attain their full potential. The second amendment right to own firearms is subject to 133 reasonable regulation and laws should protect the lives of all people, especially vulnerable populations,
134 such as our school children, from gun violence.

135 Labor and Economic Justice

136 The pandemic has thrown a harsh light on the failures of our current economic policies.

137 In the USA, one of the wealthiest nations in the world, no child should go to sleep hungry; no family
138 should have to choose between housing and health care; no worker should have to fear for their health
139 when going to work.

140 We the people have the right to government that works for all of us, over the long term, as opposed to 141 government ruled by greed for short-term profit at the expense of our health, our security, and our very 142 lives. The historical exploitation of all working people by the wealthy has gone unchecked by our 143 government for too long; this has harmed underrepresented, misrepresented, and disadvantaged
144 people the most. Income inequality is worse than ever before, with many corporate executives making

145 more than 600 times the pay of their lowest-paid employees. Wealth inequality is similarly extreme,
146 with the top 10% of families holding nearly 80% of America’s wealth and the bottom half only 1%.
147 We recognize just as President Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized nearly 90 years ago, that the 148 natural tendency of economic capital is to concentrate into fewer and fewer hands, to the point
149 where the very structure of society will collapse. It is therefore necessary to have in place
150 governmental policies that will counter this tendency towards collapse by ensuring that all people
151 have the opportunity to share in our nation's abundance.

152 Many laws designed to correct these injustices already exist, but a sorry majority have become toothless
153 laws, laws that lack oversight or enforcement, or both. Every law, every contract, every trade deal – in 154 short, every agreement – must contain funding and mechanisms to ensure justice; to make these words
155 on paper a living reality. We believe comprehensive tax reform is required to fix Washington state’s 156 regressive tax codes. Sufficient taxation is required for a functioning government that provides 157 necessary infrastructure and services. Taxation also has a role in driving and realizing societal goals.
158 Complexity in our current tax code creates opportunities for the wealthy and powerful to exploit
159 loopholes to their advantage.

160 To recover from the economic crisis created by the coronavirus pandemic, we support embracing the 161 Just Transition from an extractive economy based on a worldview of consumerism and colonialism,
162 an economic and political model of perpetual growth of economic and political power to the few 163 based on resource extraction and worker exploitation, and a military model of world domination; to 164 a regenerative economy based on a worldview of sustainability and sacredness of all life and 165 cultures, a local-centric economic model of resource regeneration, a democratic political model of 166 social justice, cooperation and wellbeing.

167 Finally, public investment should have goals beyond GDP (Gross Domestic Product) growth, we 168 should ensure that equal access to basic human necessities such as housing, health care, and 169 healthy food is prioritized over simple economic growth We are the music we make, the songs we 170 sing, the stories we tell. We are the ideas we study and share, the bridges and communities we build, in 171 uniquely human ways.

172 Social Justice

173 The inherent dignity and equal and inalienable rights of all human beings are foundations of freedom,
174 justice, and peace. Our democracy rests on the rights and responsibilities set forth in the United States
175 Constitution, the International Bill of Human Rights, the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of 176 Indigenous People, and the Washington State Constitution. We are a nation of diverse cultures.
177 Immigrants strengthen the United States of America. All immigrants should be afforded full human 178 rights and a fair, safe, and timely path to legal status or citizenship. We believe that safe, quality, and 179 physically accessible affordable housing is a basic human right, and the foundation for success in life,
180 education, and employment. We affirm the importance of culturally diverse expression through art
181 and recognize the essential power of art in building bridges among human beings. We commit to 182 expanding access for all people to all forms of art in order to preserve cultural diversity, encourage 183 free expression, and promote community building.

184 Tribal Relations and Sovereignty

185 Washington State Democrats recognize the unique and valuable history and cultural relationships of 186 the lands, waterways, usual and accustomed areas regionally and internationally which are highly 187 valued among Tribal Nations.

188 All branches of US government must maintain a lasting and respectful relationship with Tribal 189 Nations and oppose all attempts to diminish tribal sovereignty, tribal culture, natural resources,
190 health care, or the general welfare of tribes. This is essential to open and meaningful government-to-
191 government relations. We recognize the status of Urban Indian populations, and that the Federal Trust 192 responsibility expands beyond Tribal Reservation borders. We recognize the harm our country has 193 done to Native Americans. We recognize Washington State occupies tribal land.

Criminal Justice Reform

195

196

Law and the Justice System

197

We Believe:

199

- 200 ● The criminal legal system is rooted in a history of racism;
- 201 ● Racial equity must be at the heart of all the reforms of the criminal legal system;
- 202 ● No person or corporation should profit from the imprisonment of people;
- 203 ● In ending the school to prison pipeline;
- 204 ● The criminal legal system is the wrong place to handle drug addiction and mental health issues;
- 205 ● In restorative justice;
- 206 ● All people, regardless of race, sexual orientation and gender identity, ability and class have the right
- 207 to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, personal data, and effects, against unreasonable
- 208 searches and seizures;
- 209 ● A person's wealth or race should not determine how the rule of law is applied to them;
- 210 ● Employees in the judicial system need to be held to the highest standards of ethical, moral, and legal
- 211 practices;
- 212 ● The U.S. cannot and should not claim the moral high ground above other nations in the world given
- 213 the painful reality of how the U.S. treats its incarcerated individuals;
- 214 ● The strikingly disproportional negative impact of our civil and criminal justice system on people
- 215 based on race, sexual orientation and gender identity, ability and class demands our attention and
- 216 cries out for justice too long denied;
- 217 ● Nonviolent conflict resolution, education, youth programs, health care, social services,
- 218 rehabilitation, and living wage jobs will reduce crime and violence;
- 219 ● Basic human rights must be respected for all people confined in jails, prisons, mental facilities and
- 220 protective custody, and elder care memory care facilities;
- 221 ● Supporting survivors and honoring, respecting and assuming credibility of their stories and fully
- 222 investigating their claims;
- 223 ● Incarcerated individuals should be given access to phone, email and other digital communication
- 224 with their families at no cost to them or their families as this encourages family unity and furthers
- 225 the incarcerated persons rehabilitation. Access to fully funded educational programs for long term
- 226 prisoners will reduce violence in prison and recidivism.
- 227 ● Reinvesting money that goes to police in alternative emergency response programs will create safe
- 228 means for people to get help when they need it;
- 229 ● In prioritizing treatment of addiction over incarceration;
- 230 ● Community-police relations will be improved with civilian oversight and review and civilian
- 231 participation in developing ethical law enforcement practices;
- 232 ● The purpose of court sentences is to right wrongs and injustices. The goal is to address the problems
- 233 that lead to breaking the law and to minimize recidivism;
- 234 ● Ending mass incarceration will strengthen communities and begin to deconstruct the prison
- 235 industrial complex.
- 236 ● Justice Reform needs to apply equally to the military and that it be applied equally to all members of
- 237 the military regardless of rank;
- 238 ● People should not lose their voting rights because of a criminal conviction.
- 239 ● The civilian justice system is the appropriate venue for prosecution of acts of terrorism;
- 240 ● Military members who declare themselves conscientious objectors to be given due process without

- 241 fear of reprisal;
- 242 ● Increased funding for investigative units under the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) for full
- 243 prosecution of all sexual assaults, and of harassment based on gender, religion, ethnicity, or sexual
- 244 orientation, by military personnel;
- 245 ● We believe that Justice Reform needs to apply equally to the military and that it be applied equally
- 246 to all members of the military regardless of rank.

- 256 ● Enforcement of habeas corpus for everyone in the United States jurisdiction- citizens and non-
- 257 citizens;

- 260 highest in the world;
- 261 ● Abolition of solitary confinement as punishment;
- 262 ● Providing all formerly incarcerated with the opportunity to re-enter and be productive members of

- 334 ● The criminalization of homelessness;
- 335 ● Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) having access to our local court and prison systems;
- 336 ● Hiring jail building contractors to assess the needs of the community. Needs assessments must be

337 done by organizations with knowledge of the services needed to intervene and divert people from 338 jails;
339 ● One-size-fits-all flat fines and fees for criminal activity, which disproportionately punish the working 340 class and do not disincentivize the wealthy; fines should be proportionate to wealth and income.
341 ● The use of private, for-profit prisons, jails and juvenile detention facilities and the use of forced 342 and/or undercompensated prison labor to generate corporate profits;
343 ● “Stand Your Ground” laws that legalize shooting-first.

- 496 charter schools;
- 497 • Unfunded mandates;
- 498 • Linking military recruitment to educational funding;

Environment, Climate, and Sustainability

Agriculture, Aquaculture, Fisheries, and Forestry

We believe:

- Public lands should be preserved, protected and managed as a public trust for the health of current and future generations of people and wildlife;
- State and National policies must protect and restore biodiversity, ecosystems and watersheds with specific protections for wild salmon protections;
- Sustainable farming, ranching, fishing, logging, and land management are critical to the health of the climate and environment;
- Strong growth management policy and law reduces sprawl while protecting agriculture, critical areas, forest, and water;

We call for:

- Increased assistance to urban areas for development of urban forest management plans and urban forest ordinances that increase protection for trees and support increasing urban tree canopy;
- Support and encouragement of vibrant and sustainable small farms and family farms;
- Creating and supporting localized marketing, community supported agriculture, and cooperative marketing;
- Requiring developers to pay impact fees to fully mitigate increased needs for schools, safe pedestrian infrastructure, roads, parks, sewers, and other effects of development;
- Protecting our critical environmental areas including wilderness areas, old growth forests, wildlife habitat areas and corridors, wetlands, lakes, rivers, streams, riparian areas, Washington waters, coastlines, continental shelf, oceans, and other bodies of water through vigilant monitoring and planned growth management;
- Implementing a restorative soils program to incentivize healthy agriculture and forestry management practices which would concurrently enhance soil productivity, reduce local waterways pollution, and improve soil CO2 sequestration;
- Expanding funding and restoration efforts to improve fisheries including: replacement of culverts to better facilitate fish passage, habitat restoration, pollution-reduction goals, with detection of pollution sources and enforcement of violations; riparian areas; cold water connections; alternative fishing gear; support wild fish runs and hatchery production and daylighting streams and creeks where possible;
- Incentivizing and providing grants to assist property owners in transitioning their landscaping to native, diverse, drought-tolerant plants;
- Preempting rules from private organizations, such as HOAs, that prevent the use of native, diverse, and drought-tolerant landscaping;
- Requiring the use of native, diverse, drought-tolerant plants on public lands, except where park uses require a different form of groundcover;
- Investing and renewed stewardship in our forests and forest communities to sustain timber jobs as climate change threatens our forests and streams through habitat loss, susceptibility to pest infestation, and from hotter and drier seasons resulting in massive and catastrophic wildfires.
- Increasing jobs in our rural timber communities to strengthen our forests for wildfire, to use sustainable forest biomass from forestry thinning to make renewable products, through the

563 manufacture and use of advanced engineered wood products, and in the best forest management 564 practices to realize the full potential of carbon capture.

- 565 • Rapid after fire response to address potential sediment runoff and soil erosion;
- 566 • A management requirement to minimize the development of antibiotic resistant pathogens in 567 aquaculture, poultry, and livestock production;
- 568 • Reviewing and updating all farm programs; rapidly phase-out federal farm subsidies for large-scale
569 and publicly traded corporate farms; and vigorously enforce antitrust laws that apply to 570 agribusiness;

572 Fund and Clean Water State Revolving Fund to ensure all have access to safe, clean water;
- 573 • Prioritizing funding of research and extension for climate mitigation and adaptation methods for 574 agriculture, aquaculture, fishery and forestry at Washington state universities;
- 575 • Enhanced protection of riverine and marine ecosystems from tanker and cargo-vessel collisions and 576 derelict vessels' unlawful discharges and spills of petroleum-based products, and bilge water 577 pumping operations containing invasive aquatic species, requiring that all fossil-fuel tankers be 578 required to be double-hulled, and enforcing penalties for violations;
- 579 • Balancing the environmental, social, and economic benefits and costs of proposed dam removal
580 using guidance from the Environmental Impact Statement being developed by the Columbia River
581 System Operations (CSRO) Project, using best available science, and including input from everyone 582 who relies upon the river;
- 583 • Protecting wild salmon and all other native marine life;
- 584 • Enacting new laws and enforcing current regulations to eliminate pollution, and protect the health
585 of Washington state waters at the source, including point source and nonpoint source discharges;
- 586 • Clearly labeling food in support of consumer choice, including date packaged, full and complete
587 disclosure of nation of origin, genetically modified organism status, irradiation, and organic
588 certification;

589
590 We oppose:

- 591
- 592 • Weakening or eliminating environmental laws such as the Clean Water Act and the Clean Air Act
593 and weakening or eliminating the Environmental Protection Agency;
- 594 • Privatization of any and all public water holdings or diversion of agricultural water for private 595 commercial use;
- 596 • "Ag-gag" bills which restrict whistleblowers in the agricultural industry;
- 597 • Tariffs that negatively impact local agriculture;
- 598 • Monopolistic practices in agriculture, such as extreme consolidation of farms and food 599 processing because it jeopardizes food security and results in a loss of family farm income;
- 600 • Infringement of existing senior appropriated certified water rights;

601
602

603

Energy, Environment, and the Climate Crisis

604 We believe:

- 605 • Climate change is the biggest threat to our communities and livelihoods and requires urgent and 606 immediate action on local, state and national levels;
- 607 • Our economy -- and the health of our environment -- depend on sound policy, based on the best
608 available science;
- 609 • Sustainable energy production and strong environmental protections strengthen our economy and 610 our country;
- 611 • The climate crisis and environmental harms cannot be addressed without also addressing racial and 612 economic justice;
- 613 • Washington State should be the leader of national and international efforts to eliminate ecosystem
614 destruction, reduce greenhouse gases and mitigate climate change.

615 We call for:

- 616 • Achieving a net-zero carbon emission economy by 2050 with accountability for achieving 617 intermediate goals set out by Washington State law;
- 618 • Fully funding all the planning steps necessary to support state and local environmental protection 619 mandates;
- 620 • Increasing state appropriations, local funding authority, and loan and grant programs to fund
621 infrastructure needed for electrification and energy efficiency;

623 metals, toxic chemicals, and radioactive materials, via reduction in use, or proper disposal or 624 storage;
- 625 • Developing and funding a statewide infrastructure to support use of electric vehicles;
- 626 • Adopting policies and laws to minimize public safety dangers to our state caused by transportation 627 of fossil fuels, radioactive material, and other hazardous materials;
- 628 • Addressing the future reduced revenue as we decrease fossil fuel use, supplement the gasoline fuel
629 tax as the method of funding road projects with less regressive and more equitable alternatives,
630 making adjustments to keep it equitable across demographic boundaries;
- 631 • Implementing a “Buy Clean” initiative to ensure that lifecycle greenhouse gas pollution is considered
632 in state procurement contracts. Preference in contracting should be given to “Buy American” and 633 those holding high labor standards;
- 634 • Encouraging weatherization and electrification of new and existing residential, commercial and 635 institutional buildings. Allow municipalities to establish their own local requirements that are more
636 stringent than the State Building Code;
- 637 • Phasing out new natural gas connections;
- 638 • Reducing runaway plastic waste by encouraging replacement of single-use items with reusable and 639 compostable materials.

643 repealed by the Trump Administration;
- 644 • Issuance of an immediate executive order to end crude oil exports and ban fracking on public lands;

- 649 Paris Climate Accord globally;
- 650 • Establishing a near term, intermediate term and long-term national energy policy that achieves or
- 651 exceeds greenhouse gas reductions that will limit global temperature rise as agreed upon under the
- 652 Paris Climate Accord;
- 653 • Establishing and implement a price on carbon-based pollution to account for the costs of increased
- 654 air pollution and climate change from fossil fuels;
- 655 • Meeting climate goals by phasing out of oil and gas exploration, transportation, extraction and
- 656 investment in future new fossil fuel infrastructure in Washington State and offshore of the
- 657 Washington Coast to the Coastal Zone Management Act (200 miles offshore);
- 658 • Supporting energy research including development of utility scale energy storage, distributed
- 659 generation, next generation nuclear, localized commercial geothermal (heat pumps), and smart-grid
- 660 technology to support baseload;
- 661 • Taking aggressive action now to reduce the emission of greenhouse gasses in order to immediately
- 662 slow, and ultimately prevent, further global climate change and ocean rise and acidification;
- 663 • Making investments and developing industrial policies that can rapidly scale domestic
- 664 manufacturing to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, cut waste and inefficiency, and catalyze
- 665 deployment and innovation in industrial technologies and processes that will sustain globally
- 666 competitive American manufacturing jobs;
- 667 • Investment in building energy efficiency, affordable housing, and sustainable local community

- 676 management in production including the collection, cleanup and disposition of their products and
- 677 packaging at the end of their useful lives, such as batteries and prescription medications;
- 678 • Correcting the disproportionate effects on health and well-being of environmental degradation
- 679 pollution on low-income and minority communities;
- 680 • Using innovative practices and extend resources to engage hard to reach and underrepresented
- 681 communities, to receive their input into major transportation projects and programs;
- 682 • Holding meaningful consultation with Tribal Governments on environment, climate and
- 683 sustainability policies and prioritize their needs;
- 684 • Aggressively regulating toxics in commerce, using a precautionary approach to minimize harm,
- 685 under laws such as Toxic Substances Control Act;
- 686 • Placing a moratorium on new or expanded nuclear power, including small nuclear reactors that
- 687 produce high level nuclear waste;
- 688 • Requiring analyses of whether reliance on decades old nuclear reactors cost consumers far more
- 689 than available carbon free electricity that does not add to Washington’s waste and contamination
- 690 burdens or pose catastrophic risks as they age well beyond original licensing.

691 We Oppose:

- 692 • Production of fossil fuels and natural minerals through destructive techniques such as, but not

693 limited to, suction dredge mining, hydraulic fracturing, mountaintop removal, gravel mining, open
694 pit mining and offshore drilling;
695 ● Transport and storage of fossil fuels and hazardous materials without meaningful environmental 696 safeguards;

699 ● On-going or future construction of tar sands oil pipelines anywhere in North America;
700 ● Coal-fired generating plants everywhere, and transportation of coal anywhere;
701 ● Shortsighted irresponsible policies and market incentives that result in environmental damage
702 without remediation and without accounting for economic, social, and environmental costs;
703 ● Privately owned utilities;
704 ● All attempts to diminish Tribal treaties, Tribal Natural Resources, or the general welfare of the 705 tribes;
706 ● Exporting waste to be disposed of in countries with less stringent environmental standards;
707 ● the premature shutdown of carbon free electricity producing nuclear power plants currently in 708 operation, unless required for safety reasons.

We believe

- Efficient, well-planned, public transportation choices promote healthy communities, economy, and environment.

We call for

- Determining the carbon pollution and social costs of carbon associated with all transportation projects;
- Joining the regional partnership with California, Oregon, and British Columbia in adopting a clean fuel standard to reduce pollution from cars and trucks to meet our greenhouse gas emission goals, to improve the quality of the air we breathe, and to improve the health of people, often people of color and those with lower incomes, who live near major roadways;
- Requiring public transit agencies to join a common statewide payment-card system, expansion of the Regional Reduced Fare Permit to all transit agencies throughout the State and implementation of a sliding scale reduced fare program, to facilitate transfers between such agencies;
- Investing in continued local access to needed transportation infrastructure, including rural road and highway maintenance and improvement, to ensure consideration of cities and counties outside the I-5 and I-90 corridors;
- Requiring cities, counties, and regional authorities to implement equitable Transit Oriented Development and Smart Growth practices in their land use planning to decrease the need to drive;
- Regularly increasing Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) standards to levels that challenge automakers to improve fuel efficiency.
- Building an integrated American rail system, in electrifying passenger and rail throughout the country, expanding existing rail lines, and offering federal investments to further develop ultra-high-speed rail. This will create jobs, save time and money for working families, and connect disparate rural and urban population centers with more convenient, carbon-free inter-regional transportation;
- Massively increased annual federal investment in public transit systems, include new funding and rebalancing between federal highways and transit spending, to incentivize expansion of transit networks throughout America to give Americans cleaner transportation choices, and reduce vehicle miles traveled. These investments themselves will support millions of construction and operations jobs;
- Implementing a gradual phase out of most new internal combustion vehicles for personal transportation, beginning in 2030 and when technology makes it economically and practically possible for the majority of Washingtonians, realizing that exceptions will be needed for jobs and distance;
- Re-starting the I-5 Portland to Vancouver Bridge project, to benefit each of those communities and encourage efficient transit between them by road, public transit, and bicycle;
- Enacting policies and expand government support for making travel as safe and efficient as possible for all modes of transportation, whether motorized or non-motorized;
- Expanding and enhancing accessible, safe, affordable and efficient public transportation, including bus, rapid transit, light rail, commuter rail, conventional rail, regional and long distance rail, and on-demand “last mile”;
- Requiring transportation and transit agencies to use sustainability rating tools, such as INVEST, Envision, Greenroads, or LEED, to evaluate all of their programs, policies, and projects, to aid them

757 in improving their practices to reduce their environmental footprint, social impacts, and financial 758 costs;

- 759 • Setting and implement aviation CO2 emissions standards at a national level that surpass the 760 International Civil Aviation Organization's (ICAO) standards;

761

762 We oppose

763

- 764 • Privatization of transportation infrastructure;
- 765 • Regressive funding of transit, such as flat-rate car tabs and fares;
